

In a perfect world, our immune systems would protect us from all imbalances and illness. But the reality is that we are constantly surrounded by stressors from our personal and professional lives, the environment and our lifestyles. Even if we eat all organic foods and workout daily, we are still exposed to outside factors that tax our immune systems.

The CyberScan machine uses Tesla based scalar wave technology to measure imbalances and disorders in a patient's system. Imbalances can lead to disease and chronic health issues. Using a Tesla coil, CyberScan works directly with the patient's immune system to assist the body to restore balance and innately heal itself, as it was meant to do.

What is CyberScan?

"CyberScan is an advanced biofeedback device made in Germany utilizing state-of-the-art proprietary bio-cybernetic technology based upon the works of physicist and inventor Nikola Tesla and Princeton Engineering Anomaly Research (P.E.A.R.). It is completely consistent with all the laws of physics and, in particular, can be explained by quantum physics." ~www.cyberscanusa.com

What conditions can be addressed using CyberScan?

- Autoimmune disease such as thyroid imbalances
- Emotional and mental stress, trauma, depression
- Viruses such as Epstein Barr and Lyme
- PMS
- Asthma
- Allergies
- Brain patterning (reading issues, AD/HD)
- Nerve issues
- Irregular heart electrical activity (palpitations)
- Hormone imbalances and metabolism dysfunctions
- Nutritional imbalances, gut dysfunction, food sensitivities
- Electromagnetic fields, geopathic stress, radiative elements
- Pesticides/herbicides/insecticides, chemicals, heavy metal

What is the therapy?

Cyberscan will measure the frequencies emitted from the patient and determine which, if any, imbalances a patient may have. This is done by placing the patient's hand or hair sample onto the Cyberscan device, over the Tesla coil. The Cyberscan device transfers the scanned information into speciality software that analyzes the patient's information. This information is then used by the practitioner to determine the best course of therapy. The machine will program balancing frequencies, Bach Flower remedies and/or homeopathic remedies onto the card which resembles a credit card. The patient will wear the card against their body for two weeks. After the two weeks, they will be rescanned and a new card programmed. Some supplements and lifestyle changes may also be recommended.

How long does the therapy take?

Each session is two weeks long. The patient wears the card against their skin the entire two weeks. Most patients will require up to 6 sessions. Those with chronic or severe issues may require up to 12 or more sessions.

Is the therapy a permanent solution?

In a perfect world, once balanced, the immune system would be capable of maintaining balance. However, due to continuous exposure to environmental and life stressors, future therapies or "tune-ups" maybe necessary.
